TENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

JUNE 10, 2018

Reflection Corner

For whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother.

Jesus explains today that each of us needs to carry out the will of God in order to be His brother or sister. But how can someone learn what that will of God is? Granted that your average Christian does want to carry out God's will, how can he learn what this will is? Consider three possibilities that the average Christian might weigh.

First, the Christian might follow the simple instruction: "Do good and avoid evil." Such counsel is straightforward, but there are two potholes to be avoided. On the one hand, how does one know what's good in a complex moral situation? The Ten Commandments are good guides, as are the teachings in the third quarter of the Catechism, but we don't always know how to apply these to difficult situations.

On the other hand, the simple instruction of "Do good and avoid evil" can devolve into the whole of one's approach to morality. In a word, we might describe this pothole as "minimalism". Often, a moral minimalist considers that he's doing God's will as long as he avoids evil. After all, if something's not evil, it must be good, the minimalist reasons. Morality in this case is nothing more than avoiding whatever God shakes His finger at.

A second way of learning God's will considers the wealth of truly good choices that the Christian has before him. The key to this way of learning God's will is the cardinal virtue of prudence. In this case, there's not a simple choice between good and evil. That's presumed. But once all evil choices are rejected, the Christian still has many morally good options remaining. Amidst these many good choices, the Christian wants to exercise the virtue of prudence. Prudence helps the Christian advance in his moral life, and by that means, also in his spiritual life. Morality in this case moves us from choosing any old good action to choosing what is best, for as the best possible good, it shares most in the perfection of God's goodness, and thereby draws us closest to God.

The third way of learning God's will is the most demanding. This way could be summed up by the word "discernment". In the process of discernment, the Christian listens for and to the Lord's voice because there is more one needs to know.

Perhaps the Christian is uncertain which of several good choices is the best. Perhaps he is uncertain if he has all the underlying facts upon which to base a determination of the best choice. Perhaps he's wondering if there are further good options not yet visible to him. Amidst all the different reasons for discernment, the virtue of obedience is key: obedience to the voice of Jesus, and to the word He speaks. Morality in this case is founded upon a relationship with the living God, who sacrificed His own Son so that we might become, through Jesus' self-sacrifice, His brothers and sisters.

SAFEGUARD THE CHILDREN Did you Know?

Keeping children safe during summer

During the summer, children may spend time at a camp or program. It is important to monitor for potential risks when a child enters a new environment. Ask to see the organizations written policies for the adults who will be supervising your child, check if there are procedures in place for emergencies and make sure there is a system for open communication between parents and organizers/ leadership. Taking time to check these and other safeguards is key to building safe and nurturing experiences for children. Mensaje para Reflexionar

El que blasfeme contra el Espíritu Santo

El hombre contemporáneo se está acostumbrando a vivir sin responder a la cuestión más vital de su vida: por qué y para qué vivir. Lo grave es que, cuando la persona pierde todo contacto con su propia interioridad y misterio, la vida cae en la trivialidad y el sinsentido. Se vive entonces de impresiones, en la superficie de las cosas y de los acontecimientos, desarrollando sólo la apariencia de la vida. Probablemente, esta banalización de la vida es la raíz más importante de la incredencia de no pocos.

Cuando el ser humano vive sin interioridad, pierde el respeto por la vida, por las personas y las cosas. Pero, sobre todo, se incapacita para «escuchar» el misterio que se encierra en lo más hondo de la existencia. El hombre de hoy se resiste a la profundidad. No está dispuesto a cuidar su vida interior. Pero comienza a sentirse insatisfecho: intuye que necesita algo que la vida de cada día no le proporciona. En esa insatisfacción puede estar el comienzo de su salvación.

El gran teólogo Paul Tillich decía que sólo el Espíritu nos puede ayudar a descubrir de nuevo «el camino de lo profundo». Por el contrario, pecar contra ese Espíritu Santo sería «cargar con nuestro pecado para siempre».

El Espíritu puede despertar en nosotros el deseo de luchar por algo más noble y mejor que lo trivial de cada día. Puede darnos la audacia necesaria para iniciar un trabajo interior en nosotros.

El Espíritu puede hacer brotar una alegría diferente en nuestro corazón; puede vivificar nuestra vida envejecida; puede encender en nosotros el amor incluso hacia aquellos por los que no sentimos hoy el menor interés.

El Espíritu es «una fuerza que actúa en nosotros y que no es nuestra». Es el mismo Dios inspirando y transformando nuestras vidas. Nadie puede decir que no está habitado por ese Espíritu. Lo importante es no apagarlo, avivar su fuego, hacer que arda purificando y renovando nuestra vida. Tal vez, hemos de comenzar por invocar a Dios con el salmista: «No apartes de mí tu Espíritu».

Que Dios los siga bendiciendo a través del Espíritu Santo.

-Padre Jose Antonio Pagola

Protegiendo a los Niños Sabia usted?

Manteniendo los niños seguros durante el Verano

Durante el verano, los niños pueden pasar su tiempo en un campo o en un programa. Es importante monitorearlos para potenciales riesgos que suceden cuando un niño entra a un nuevo ambiente. Solicite ver las políticas de la organización para los adultos que estarán supervisando a su hijo o hija, revise que la organización tenga un plan de seguridad para casos de emergencia, y verifique que exista un sistema para mantener comunicación entre los padres de familia y los organizadores y los líderes. Tomar el tiempo para comprobar estas y otras medidas de salvaguardias es clave para construir experiencias seguras y sanas para los niños.
