

SAINT ANTHONY CATHOLIC CHURCH

EL SEGUNDO, CALIFORNIA

THIRTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY

JUNE 28, 2020

Reflection Corner

There is something very beautiful and central about the readings this weekend. They speak of the "cost" of discipleship. A very big difference when we follow Christ and "die to sin" - We die with Christ so that we can rise to newness of life, as the readings say.

It reminds us that when we become followers of Christ, it really does change our priorities. We "die" to selfishness and live to "generosity" - And, although we know that there is indeed a cost to following Christ, we do not keep a ledger - we don't count the cost. Because we follow Jesus' ways, we can be opposed by others who feel threatened by Christ's values. We can be rejected by others who are challenged by the Gospel. We must be prepared for the fact that we may lose earthly "things" because of our discipleship and be put at a material disadvantage in terms of material priorities. Still, we are greatly encouraged to know that we are living something greater - life with and in Christ!

I think of that wonderful generosity of that lady in the first reading. This lady just wanted to help a holy man, a servant of God, and she supported him in his holy work. She did it unselfishly, without expecting anything back, but because she and her husband had been so kind, they were blessed in ways they could never have imagined or expected.

I was reading a reflection by the Jesuit commentator, Mark Link, and he was speaking about this Gospel message of "taking up one's cross and following Christ" - I must say, that at times I have said to the Lord, "Look, Lord, I will follow you and I will keep your message and values and proclaim it... but this "taking up the cross" and "suffering" thing.... that part!... can we talk about that... maybe re-negotiate it ... I find that difficult! " - I think most people balk at the idea that there will be pain, loss and suffering in life and in our decision to follow Christ's ways.....

The mystery of the cross is a difficult but central reality in the life of Christ and of us all..... And in life, there are many little crosses as we journey along our path.....

Helen Keller... the American author and lecturer, who was both deaf and blind. She said the most extraordinary thing once....It is challenging and difficult to comprehend this message but it is the message of the Cross.....The following are her words and this is what she said motivated her life....."I thank God for my disabilities. For through them, I have found myself, my work, and my God!" - WOW. What an amazing outlook..... one that transformed everything she did and said. Because of... and despite many major obstacles in life, she did not let stop her.

May the Lord and his grace help us in our crosses and struggles...

Fr. Paul W. Kelly

Mensaje para Reflexionar

Muchos padres dicen que la llegada de su primer hijo marca el comienzo de una nueva vida para ellos. Dicen que ser padres incluye muchos sacrificios, pero las recompensas superan lo que los sacrificios cuestan. Y no hay nadie más por quien se puedan sacrificar más que por su querido pequeño.

La tres lecturas de la Sagrada Escritura de esta semana ilustran las recompensas que Dios ofrece a aquellos que nacen a la nueva vida de Cristo por el Bautismo. Pablo nos dice que todos los que mueren al pecado por el Bautismo vivirán con Cristo una nueva vida (Romanos 6:4). En esta nueva vida los sacrificios se eligen libre y alegremente, y estos nos traen recompensas eternas. La historia de Eliseo y la mujer que esta por convertirse en viuda ejemplifica las recompensas del sacrificio ofrecido libremente. Ella cubre las necesidades de Eliseo, no por interés propio, sino porque sabe que Eliseo es santo. Su sacrificio se recompensa con una vida nueva en su vientre, con un hijo que la cuidara en su vejez.

Las palabras que nos dice Jesús refuerzan este mensaje: “El que pierde su vida por mí, la salvara...” y “quien diere, aunque no sea más que un vaso de agua fría a uno de estos pequeños...” (Mateo 10:39, 42) será recompensado. Realizar sacrificios por los demás es esencial para vivir nuestro bautismo en una vida nueva.

Esta semana y la próxima, San Mateo menciona a los pequeños, Quienes son los pequeños en estas lecturas de hoy? La mujer se preocupa por Eliseo y su necesidad. Eliseo se preocupa por la mujer y su necesidad. Los pequeños son cualquier persona necesitada, en quienes debemos ver el rostro del mismo Cristo. Quienes son los pequeños en tu comunidad? Como se te pide que te esfuerces y te preocupes por sus necesidades? Que sacrificio tendrás que hacer de buena voluntad? Cual será la recompensa?

Historias de lectura en voz alta para estrechar la relación con sus hijos

El verano es un buen tiempo para enseñar o desarrollar el hábito de la lectura en sus hijos. Los libros son un buen recurso para aprender nuevas cosas en la vida, y mientras usted lee junto con sus hijos, ello puede ayudarle a fortalecer su relación con ellos y a conocer más sobre sus emociones y preocupaciones, especialmente en este tiempo de COVID-19. “Las preocupaciones, los miedos y las ansiedades son todos dragones que se nos acercan sigilosamente en algún momento”, dice la introducción del libro en inglés “You’ve got dragons”, de la autora Kathryn Cave. “Es una historia perfecta para leer en voz alta a sus hijos pequeños, cuyos miedos pueden algunas veces apoderarse de ellos”. Entre algunos libros recomendados por la Asociación Americana de Psicología (APA, por sus siglas en inglés), está el libro en español, “Respira con facilidad”, y los libros en inglés, “A feel better book for little worriers” y “My wandering dreaming mind”.
